Man reportedly ignores train's blast, is struck by engine

A man was killed by a train as he was sitting on a railroad track in West Sacramento near the I St. bridge on Monday.

The Yolo Co. Coroner's office said the train blew its horn and attempted to brake, but the man did not get off the tracks, and was struck by the slow-moving westbound train.

A West Sacramento police spokeswoman said the man was a transient whose identity was being withheld until police could try to notify next of kin.

Simple rules offer relief from winter woodburning ills

As cooler weather arrives, Yolo county residents are being asked to help improve winter air quality by checking that they are using wood burning stoves and fireplaces correctly and adhering to "Don't Light Tonight" advisories by the Yolo-Solano Air Quality Management District (YSAQMD).

"Don't Light Tonight" is a voluntary program in which the District asks residents not to use their woodstoves and fireplaces on evenings when air pollution, especially carbon monoxide and small particles, approach unhealthful levels.

Concentrations of carbon monoxide and particulate matter reach their highest levels in winter because low-lying air inversions trap pollutants near the ground in the pocket of air we breathe. As night falls, ground-level air cools and cold air slides down into the valley areas, hugging the valley floors. When there is little or no wind, the warm air level above acts as a lid on top of the cold air. As a result, wood smoke and other air pollutants can be trapped close to the ground -- under a ceiling sometimes as low as 50 feet. These cold weather conditions, coupled with the increased use of fireplaces and woodstoves, can create pollution levels that can lead not only to poor air quality but also to health problems for many residents, including serious breathing difficulties and cardiac problems, especially for people suffering existing respiratory conditions, such as asthmatics.

Steps to reduce wood smoke pollution this winter include:
(1) Always burn small pieces of aged, dry hardwood. Unseasoned wood has lots of moisture, which causes fire to smoke. Choose manufactured fireplace logs over wood when possible as they burn 50% cleaner and with less ash clean up.
(2) When storing wood, stack it under cover in a dry ventilated area. Freshly cut wood needs to be stored for about 8-12 months.
(3) Never burn household trash, chemically treated or painted wood. It is sure to pollute the air and it can produce poisonous gases.
(4) Stack wood loosely in your firebox, so plenty of air circulates around it.
(5) Keep the flame active. Your fire should only smoke when you first light it and when you add extra fuel. Open the flue every time you add fuel.
(6) Don't let your fire smolder overnight. Keep enough air in the fire to maintain a flame.
(7) Check your chimney regularly to see how well your fire is burning. If there is excess smoke coming from the chimney, increase the air supply to your fire.
(8) If you are buying a wood stove or insert, make sure it is EPA-certified.

It is also recommended that country residents not use their woodstoves and fireplaces on days that are declared "No Burn Days" for agricultural burning.

City, schools & YMCA join in child care facility effort

Last year, the City of West Sacramento partnered with the Washington Unified School District to purchase and install a portable classroom, which was installed at Southport Elementary School.

The City of West Sacramento budgeted $10,000 to fund the project, which was approved by the West Sacramento City Council. The school district provided the

What goes down must come up--

ON SATURDAY MORNING, city workers had to re-raise a large community Christmas tree knocked down by Friday night's windy rainstrom (right).

The tree, located next to the city's welcome sign at the foot of Park Blvd. and Jefferson Blvd., is co-sponsored by the West Sacramento Chamber of Commerce.

Jim Thompson of the city's parks department (below) helped begin stringing lights onto the tree Monday morning, but the official tree lighting ceremony takes place Friday at 5:30 p.m. -- and you're invited.

Santa is also invited -- he's expected to put in an appearance atop one the city's fire engines.

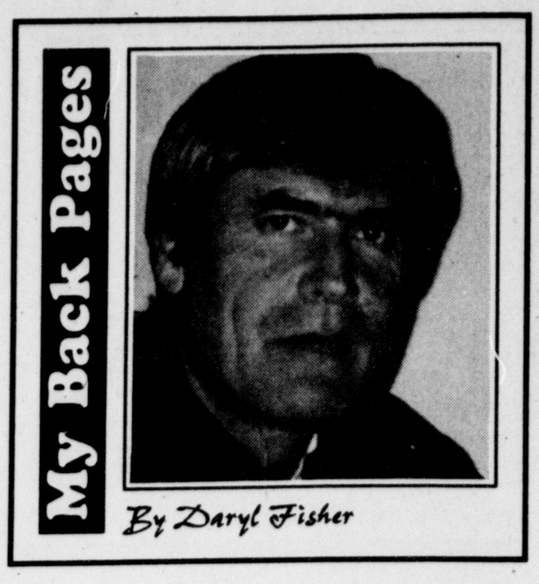
Tour of local, holiday-decorated houses will benefit children's home

The West Sacramento Little Skipper Auxiliary of Children's Home Society will present their Twelfth Annual West Sacramento Holiday Tour on Saturday, December 8th, from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Five Festively decorated homes located in various areas of West Sacramento and Southport are featured on this year's tour. A sixth home where refreshments will be served, and baked goods holiday crafts, and boutique items are available for sale, will open at 10:30 a.m.

All proceeds from this event benefit Children's Home Society, an agency which has been providing services to children since 1891. Tickets are $10. Please contact Jane Koerwitz at 371-0637 or Dorothy Kruse at 371-8959 for tickets or tour information.

Children's Home Society volunteers Mary Ruth Griffith and Margaret Lynch admire the holiday decor in the West Sacramento home of Margie Yutzy.

Has the meaning of Thanksgiving been misplaced?



When I finally crawled out of bed on Thanksgiving Day last Thursday, the first thing I went in search of was my morning copy of the Sacramento Bee, which, for a change, was actually resting on my front porch. As I reached down, it suddenly dawned on me that the darn thing was even bigger than the typical Sunday paper, which can of course give a person a hernia if he or she isn't careful when they pick it up.

Once back inside the house with my ten pounds or so of newsprint, I plopped down in my favorite rocking chair and began to thumb through it. Among other things, I learned that the economy is still in the dumper; that even a sweet little old lady living in rural Connecticut can be a victim of bioterrorism; that Osama bin Laden's al-Qaida terrorist network is on the run but still dangerous; that if you take ibuprofen for a long period of time you probably won't get Alzheimer's; that air travel during the holidays is expected to drop by 20% this year; and that the Sacramento Kings are playing better defense.

"Isn't there anything in this gigantic paper about Thanksgiving?" I finally asked my wife, who was seated on the sofa next to me.

"Try the Scene section," she suggested. "Dear Abby usually re-runs her Thanksgiving column every year."

Sure enough, at least good old out-of-touch Dear Abby had taken a few minutes out of her busy day to try and put Thanksgiving Day into perspective. More specifically, she wrote, "Today is Thanksgiving Day, so take some time to reflect upon all the things for which you are thankful. How's your health? Not so good? Well, thank God you've lived this long. A lot of people haven't." Then she went on to say, "How's your pocketbook? Thin? Well, most of the world is a lot poorer. No pensions. No welfare. No food stamps. No Social Security. In fact, one-third of the people in the world will go to bed hungry tonight."

Still not quite understanding why a Thanksgiving Day newspaper which said so little about Thanksgiving could be so big, I asked my wife to explain it to me.

"It's all the ads, Daryl," she said matter-of-factly. "Tomorrow is one of the biggest shopping days of the entire year. It kicks off the start of the Christmas season and there are big sales going on all over town."

Sure enough, once I turned my attention to them, there were indeed sales ads everywhere!

"Just listen to some of this stuff," I said to my wife. "All of Madonna's CDs are on sale at Tower Records for $14.99; at Toys "R" Us, you can save 50% on all their Toy Story 2 Action Figures, get a Tucker My Talkin' Truck for only $9.97, and save $20 on a Barbie Dream House; at Radio Shack you can get InsectoBots, which move and react just like real insects, for only $12 each, and their Jimmy Neutron Boy Genius radio control ultra orb has been marked down to $39.99; if you are one of the first 700 shoppers who go to Mervyns tomorrow, they'll give you a free Frosty the Snowman bobblehead doll and an extra 10% off coupon for anything in the store; Home Depot has poinsettias plants for $5.47, 100 miniature Christmas tree lights for only $1.88, and if you buy more than $299 worth of stuff while you're there, you don't even have to pay for it for six months; Best Buy has a 61-key musical keyboard for $69.99 and 5-quart crock pots for only $29.99; at Ace Hardware they have an Upside-Down Kicking Santa for $11.99 and a Reggie the Rockin' Reindeer for $49.99; you can get two Harley-Davidson motorcycle collectible Christmas tree ornaments for only $10 at Walgreens; PetsMart has Wiggly Giggly Balls and Holiday Bone Dog Toys for $9.99 each and ExquisiCat Scoop Cat Litter (scented or unscented) for only $6.99; At K-Mart you can get a battery-operated Dodge Dakota or Honda ATV Ride-On Toy for $59.88, and if you're willing to drive all the way out to Sears, they'll give you just about anything in the store for 50% off."

I shook my head slowly from side to side and said to my wife, "Is it just me, or does the real meaning of Thanksgiving seem to be getting lost in all this crass commercialism?"

"Did you just say that Sears is taking 50% off just about everything in their stores?"

"Kings Korner"

The Sacramento Kings (10-4) were ambushed on Monday night in Memphis by their new nemesis, ex-King Jason Williams. Williams led Memphis (2-11) to only their second win of the season with a fourth quarter come from behind 98-94 victory over the stunned Kings. Williams started the game 1-10 from the field but finished strong by connecting on 8 of his last 10 shots.

The Kings, who committed too many mistakes to recover from the Grizzlies' last-minute surge, are in dire need of Chris Webber's services. Webber is traveling with the team but is only doing light workouts to prepare for his season premiere which is still a couple of weeks away. My guess for his return to the line up would be Friday, December 7th against the Los Angeles Lakers at the Arco Arena.

The Kings' four-game road trip gets a lot tougher, with three games in Texas starting with the Houston Rockets on Tuesday night. The Kings will enjoy one day off before they head to Dallas on Thursday (5:30 p.m.) night to play the Mavs and again Friday night in another set of back-to-back game against the Spurs (5:30 p.m.- ch.31) in San Antonio. The Kings will return home on December 2nd for a rematch against the Dallas Mavericks (6 p.m.).

"NFL Action"

The 49ers (8-2) are quietly making a run at the St. Louis Rams and the Western Division title. The Niners used four interceptions from Peyton Manning that led to three touchdowns and turn around a close game at halftime. The 49ers young defense shutdown the Colts (4-6) in the third quarter and Garrison Hearst provided the fireworks running for two touchdowns to complement Jeff Garcia's arm in their 40-21 win over the faltering Colts. The Niners special teams unit finally performed beyond expectations and was the key to the 49ers great field position.

The Rams (8-2), who were upset on Monday night by Tampa Bay and didn't look as scary as they normally do will meet the 49ers for the division showdown on December 9th in St. Louis. The Niners (-9) next game will be at home against Buffalo (1-9) on the ESPN (5:30 p.m.) late night Sunday game.

The Oakland Raiders (8-2) have increased their AFC lead in the West and are looking like the team to beat in the race to the Super

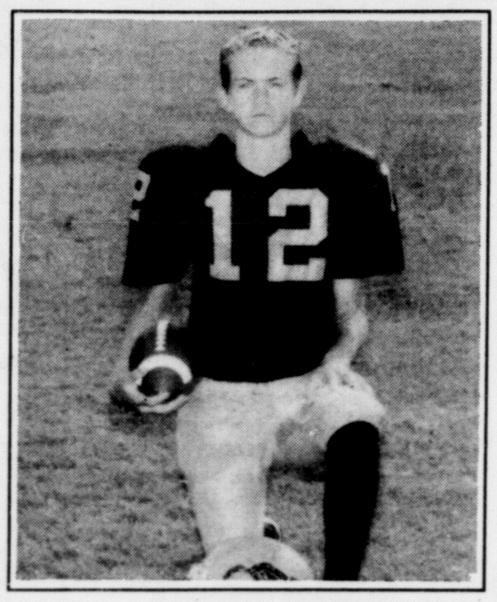
ARIEL GREGERSEN

West Sac 6th Grader



Ariel Gregersen, an 11-year-old West Sacramento resident and 6th grader at Holy Cross School, continues to excel in West Sacramento athletics. On November 18th, she won the Girls 10-11 Division of the Gatorade Sectional NFL Punt, Pass and Kick contest held at Bryte Park. Her individual performance will be compared to other sectional winners in her division and she could advance to the next level, which is being held at the Oakland Coliseum on December 9th.

Ariel has been a West Sacramento athlete for many years, but has only played competitive tackle football since joining the West Sacramento Bears Pee-Wee team in August of this year. She played quarterback and defensive back, and was the punter and kicker on the special teams.

Ariel has also been a regular on West Sacramento Little League teams for the past six years. She was drafted into the Major Division at the age of ten and selected to the 9-10 year old All-Star team for the 1999-2000 season. At the age of 11, she was selected to the 11-12 year old All-Stars where she played pitcher and catcher and batted over .500. In addition, Ariel plays basketball, was on the under-12 boys soccer team, has swam for the West Sacramento Dolphins Swim Team, and continues to be a familiar face at many of the City Parks and Recreation and West Sacramento athletic events. She also enjoys skateboarding, roller blading, golfing and camping, and is a straight-A student at Holy Cross School.

"Ariel combines intelligence, personality and spirit with leadership and athleticism," said one of her past coaches, Dave Blake. "She's an exception young lady that West Sacramento can be very proud of."

Low Hotel Rates Encourage Travel

A program which offers hotel rooms at a discount is helping Americans get on the road again.

(NAPS)—As part of a concerted effort to encourage consumers to get back on the road, Howard Johnson International has introduced a special program which offers special discount room rates as low as $39 per night in the United States.

Called the Spirit America program, the offer runs through March 31, 2002. Rates range from $39 to $59 ($59 to $79 Canadian), and rooms can be booked online, by phone or through any travel agent.

"One of the basic pleasures Americans enjoy is the ability to travel freely," said Mary Mahoney, Howard Johnson president and chief executive officer. "We encourage people to exercise their freedom to travel to visit friends and family or explore the richness of our country."

In addition to the Spirit America rates, Howard Johnson hotels provide added value and fun for families through its Kids Go HoJo program, in which children stay free and receive a free Crayola FunPack. As part of the program, children 12 and younger may also enter to win a $50,000 scholarship.

For more information about the Spirit America program and rates, visit www.hojo.com, call (800) I-GO-HOJO or speak with a travel agent.

Howard Johnson International Inc. franchises nearly 500 hotels and Inns in the United States, Canada and a dozen other countries worldwide. Howard Johnson is a proud supporter of America's Promise—The Alliance for Youth, and is helping to point kids in the right direction.

Buying a home? Or selling?
Do you have questions?

■ How do I buy another home and sell mine?
■ What is my home worth? How much do I get?
■ Do I sell my home first? Do I rent?
■ Where do I start? Who can help?

You can start by calling JOHN KANE, 373-5300.

He has the answers to your questions, and can tailor-make a "Real Estate Plan" that makes sense for you. He has helped many West Sacramento families -- and his experience does make a difference.

FRUIT SCOOPS

The Art Of Eating A California Kiwi

(NAPS)—Eating a kiwi is an art form. There are many different styles of kiwi eating, but all have the same purpose—to enjoy the sweet, juicy fruit housed inside the fuzzy brown skin.

The California kiwi is not only nutritious but versatile—any way you slice (and sloop) it.

Many different styles have been used to achieve the enjoyment of the kiwi. The bold and brazen simply bite into the kiwi and enjoy, eating the skin and all.

The patient kiwi eater will gently peel the fuzzy exterior with a knife and then delicately slice the inner kiwi and enjoy. The experienced cooks, who may use kiwis in their recipes, will quickly peel the kiwi and then slice and dice and mix with other ingredients to create a salsa, or perhaps purée the kiwi with raspberries for a sauce to pour over ice cream.

There is one other, much simpler option. Just slice the kiwi down the center, scoop out the middle with a spoon, and eat. It's as if nature already provided you with a fuzzy brown bowl to eat the kiwi from.

This slice-and-scoop method is made even simpler with the introduction of the slooper. The slooper, with a knife at one end and a spoon at the other, is a handy little utensil that can be used to both cut and then slice the kiwi. For directions on how to get your hands on one of these sloopers for free, visit www.kiwifruit.org.

With the California kiwi season now in full swing, you will find an ample supply of kiwis at the grocery store to test out the various methods of eating a kiwi. By the end of the kiwi season, you too will see that kiwi eating is truly an art form.

When choosing a kiwi, look for firm, unblemished fruit. Press the outside of the fruit with your thumb—if it gives to slight pressure, the kiwifruit is ripe. Once you bring your kiwi home, it should last for several days at room temperature. If you place your kiwi in the refrigerator, it could last up to four weeks.

There are additional benefits to eating kiwis. They are one of the most nutrient-dense fruits in the produce aisle. Inside the kiwi is a nutritional powerhouse of vitamin C, fiber, copper, potassium, folate, magnesium, vitamin E and lutein (a cancer-fighting phytochemical).

Kiwi-Citrus Salsa

3 to 4 California kiwifruit, peeled and diced (1½ cups)
2 medium tangerines or 1 orange, peeled and diced
1 cup peeled and diced jicama
½ cup diced sweet red or yellow pepper
¼ cup chopped cilantro
1 tablespoon lime juice
1 tablespoon vegetable oil
½ to 1 jalapeño pepper, minced, seeds and veins removed
¼ teaspoon salt

In a large bowl, combine all ingredients, mixing well. Chill briefly. Makes about 2½ cups.

Delicious Baking

(NAPS)—Are you in search of a quick dessert or a special treat? Everyone in the family, both young and old, will enjoy Baja Banana Cake.

By including wheat germ in the filling and batter, this moist banana cake with a chocolate drizzle tastes great and gets an extra nutrition boost. Because it is the "heart" of the wheat, the germ is a concentrated source of many nutrients, including vitamin E and folic acid.

This baking season, add an easy nutrition boost to all of your baked goods by simply substituting ½ cup wheat germ for ½ cup flour in all of your favorite recipes.

BAJA BANANA CAKE
9 servings

FILLING
½ cup Kretschmer wheat germ, any flavor
¼ cup finely chopped toasted almonds
½ tsp. ground cinnamon

CAKE
½ cup mashed ripe banana (about 1 large)
⅓ cup fat-free milk
1 egg
1 egg white
1½ cups all-purpose flour
¾ cup granulated sugar
¼ cup Kretschmer wheat germ, any flavor
1 Tbsp. baking powder
4 Tbsp. (½ stick) 70% vegetable oil spread
3 Tbsp. fat-free chocolate syrup plus additional for garnish, if desired

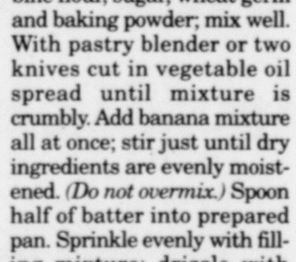
Heat oven to 350°F. Lightly spray 8-inch square metal baking pan with cooking spray. For filling, combine all ingredients in small bowl; mix well. Reserve ½ cup for topping. Set both aside. For cake, combine banana, milk, egg and egg white in small bowl; mix well. In large bowl, combine flour, sugar, wheat germ and baking powder; mix well. With pastry blender or two knives cut in vegetable oil spread until mixture is crumbly. Add banana mixture all at once; stir just until dry ingredients are evenly moistened. (Do not overmix.) Spoon half of batter into prepared pan. Sprinkle evenly with filling mixture; drizzle with chocolate syrup. Spoon remaining batter into pan. Sprinkle with reserved ½ cup topping. Bake 30 to 35 minutes or until golden brown and wooden pick inserted in center comes out clean. Cool in pan on wire rack. Serve warm or at room temperature with chocolate syrup; drizzle, if desired.

Nutrition Information: (⅛ of recipe) Cal. 280, Cal. From Fat 70, Fat 8g, Sat. Fat 1.5g, Chol. 25mg, Sodium 190mg, Carbo. 46g, Fiber 2g, Protein 7g, Folic Acid 93mcg (25% DV), Vitamin E 4IU (15% DV).

Buffalo-Style Chicken Pizza

Prep Time: 10 minutes
Cook Time: 15 minutes

2 cups diced cooked chicken
⅓ cup Frank's RedHot cayenne pepper sauce
2 tbsp. melted butter
2 (12-inches each) prebaked pizza shells
1 cup pizza or barbecue sauce
2 cups shredded mozzarella cheese
½ cup diced celery
½ cup blue cheese or ranch dressing



In bowl, toss chicken with RedHot sauce and butter. Place pizza shells on baking sheets. Spread shells with pizza sauce. Sprinkle with chicken mixture, cheese and celery. Bake at 400°F for 15 minutes. Drizzle with dressing. Cut into wedges to serve. Makes 8 servings.

Touring with Teddi

by Teddi Boylan

Thanksgiving isn't over (except for the turkey). In this very special season of the year it is truly time to count your blessings, I do.

Every night as I snuggle in my nice warm bed,
Thankful for the roof over my head,
The food on the stove, being healthy and able,
To share the joys of a bountiful table.
For sweet memories of day's gone by,
Of children, and turkey, and apple pie.
If only this season could last and last,
I guess it's love makes it go so fast.
Just sit down for a moment or two
And think what the season means to you.
It's time to give thanks and truly share
And show your brethren you really care!

The West Sacramento Christmas Basket Project, the main part of the Basket Project, is to provide a good holiday meal for the less fortunate in the cities of West Sacramento and Clarksburg. "Baskets are tailored to family size so there is plenty for all. The Baskets needs are met by donations of food, services and cash. Any extra funds or food at the end of the years project are channeled into the local food banks. The 2000 project provided baskets for over 800 families, over 3,000 people. The West Sacramento Christmas Project is conducted annually by a coalition of religious groups, community organizations, business firms, and concerned citizens."

In keeping with the spirit of the season, Rosie and the Westside Pub and Grill on Sacramento Avenue will be happy to get your donations of canned goods for the food drive for the Christmas Basket Project. On December 8th the Westside Harley Company, also on Sacramento Avenue, is sponsoring a BBQ in the Westside Pub's parking lot. Bring an unwrapped toy for the West Sacramento Toy Run on December 9th, starting at the Westside Pub and Grill. One toy can bring such joy to a child no matter what the cost, so give what you can.

While I'm talking about the Westside Pub and Grill I must tell you sports buffs that Rosie has installed DirectTV. Now you can see all the NFL, NBA and Kings games in comfort, as well as Monday Night Football. Just a word of warning! If you're planning on having a Christmas party BOOK NOW! There aren't many available days left. Rosie 372-8897.

Speaking of parties, if you're planning on having the whole family over for Christmas, be sure to get to Jealousy Catering for their fantastic prices and service. Why work? Enjoy your company and let Jealousy do it. 452-0183.

Have you taken advantage of the lunch coupon on this page from Nick's Diner? A free lunch coupon ends this Friday. Dinner will be featured in December, so don't forget, bring a friend for a holiday treat.

Feliz Navidad!! Remember to visit Emma's Taco House over the holidays for fabulous Mexican food, and great margaritas!

You people who live in Woodland just ten minutes from us had better get moving, Morrison's is booking Christmas parties and dinners at breakneck speed. Reservations suggested. (530) 666-6176.

Don't fall for their 'fish story'!

Beware of the circulation claims made by that 'hometown newspaper' distributed in West Sacramento by a Bay Area corporate chain.

The News-Ledger has more subscribers than the West Sacramento Press does. Period!

OPINION

News-Ledger Editorial:

Of east, west and small-town heroes

It was a "textbook case," evidently.

West Sacramento developer Frank Ramos played Yolo County against the city of Davis quite effectively several years ago when he wanted to build a subdivision on the eastern, agricultural edge of Davis. The city said "no," preferring to stick with its plan to keep the land sprawl-free. So Ramos went to the county for a "second opinion." Tempted by financial benefits from the subdivision, Yolo County's leaders stepped on the city's toes and flirted with the idea of developing the property as a county project right on the city's doorstep.

The city blinked. Fearing a complete loss of control over the project if the county went ahead with it, Davis approved Mace Ranch.

That example of how local government agencies should not make land use decisions is now part of a graduate-level land use textbook penned by an out-of-state author.

And speaking of Mace Ranch: that east-Davis collection of "drywall castles" is now referred to as "West West Sacramento" by a columnist in the Davis newspaper.

The West Sacramento city council has traditionally handed out proclamations at the drop of a hat. It's not unheard of, even, for the city to honor one of its own with a proclamation purely to recognize the honoree for receiving a proclamation from somebody else.

So how about those two local postal employees who reacted in a split-second to chase down, tackle, and detain a struggling purse-snatcher in September? A kiss on the cheek from the grateful robbery victim meant a lot, reports one of these "men in blue." But a "thank you" from the local police department or the city council wouldn't do any harm to Jeff Battle or Ray Carreon, either.

Letters to the Editor

Utility bill concerns

It is hard to understand why the utility bills for West Sacramento continue to grow at an unbelievably high rate during a period of low inflation. My records reveal that there has not been even one year that the rates have not been increased.

It is interesting to note that my records indicate that my city utility bill for November, 1992 was $46.38. (The city is) now proposing a cost of $68.02 which will be an increase of approximately 50% over that ten year period. I haven't noted any increase in service and apparently, efficiency is not highly valued.

In addition, I purchase almost all my drinking water since the water from the tap frequently smells and tastes a bit like it came from a swamp. A check with Sacramento County residents reveals that their bill for the same services in $55.45 per month including any surcharges.

It is interesting to note that on that same date of November, 1992, my Pacific Gas and Electric bill was $165.39 and this month it is $85.98. Isn't that the bill all of Northern California has been screaming about? Are we not always told that a publicly owned utility will be more reasonable and efficient? In both cases, however, I have no choice of purchasing the service from a competitive company which leaves the average homeowner with no defense except a letter of protest.

Pastor's group is anti-casino

A group of West Sacramento evangelical Christian leaders recently wrote to Mayor Mark Montemayor in objection to a proposed local casino project. Here is their letter -- and the mayor's response

A letter to the Mayor

We would like to share with you, at the onset of your preliminary discussions with the Upper Lake Rancheria Tribe from Clear Lake, our concerns for the people of West Sacramento and our strong opposition to bringing a gambling facility into our community.

No one can honestly deny the devastating moral and spiritual effects that historically accompany gambling. No person or community is so rich as to be able to afford the resulting deterioration of personal integrity, the poor work habits, the demoralization of family life, and the un-Christian attempt to get something for nothing or at another's expense.

Once again the enigmatic promise is floated before a perspective community -- "this could financially benefit local schools and redevelopment." This is not the "magic pill" lesson we would want to teach our children about responsible citizenship nor the way we desire to see the growing sense of our community spirit hollowed and cheapened. This sort of rationalization is a common ploy that never fully meets expectations.

We strongly urge you not to consider this attempt by an outside interest group, to have West Sacramento serve as a vehicle to satisfy greed and deepen the victimization of this city. To build a casino at the same time we are trying to get a youth center off the ground so our children can have a safe place to go, sends a contradictory message. One of the major addictions our youth face today is an addition to gambling. Percentage-wise there is no single group at greater risk for the devastation that accompanies gambling.

As pastors, we are called to be stewards of God's gracious gifts to us and to be concerned about the welfare of others. Gambling is a side step to the social responsibilities we have to one another as a community and a flagrant dismissal of honoring God's blessings. With all the time and effort West Sacramento has put into meaningful and life affirming redevelopment projects, now is not the time to take a giant step in the wrong direction.

Blessings and Peace.

CASINO LETTER from page seven

Mayor responds to local pastors group

Thank you for sharing your concerns about the proposed casino in your letter of November 9, 2001. I would like to offer the following response.

First and foremost the concept of an Indian gaming/casino venture is very much in its infancy stages. It is my understanding that the supporters of this venture are in their fact-finding stages and are merely gauging the level of local support for this project.

At this point, I am withholding a final opinion on the total project. The facts that you laid out are very informative, but these facts are preliminary and therefore it is difficult to make a final judgement. Without knowing the full extent of what this project is, I am compelled to allow our City staff to sort out what the full implications are. Moreover, it is my preliminary opinion that this issue is so important and the consequences so great, that it demands this case be presented to the voters of West Sacramento on a ballot when the facts of this casino possibility unfold.

Again, thank you for informing me of your concerns. I can assure you that your opinion will not be taken lightly and we will do our very best to make certain that we will act in the best interests of West Sacramento.

If you have further questions or comments, I will be more than happy to address them.

Police log

Nov. 15, 10:13 p.m.
Officers attempted to contact a 34-year old Pecan St. man regarding a warrant. The suspect fled out his rear window, but was chased and captured. He had superficial wounds from jumping two chain-link fences.

Nov. 21, 11:50 p.m.
Two officers were dispatched to Bryte Ave. regarding a man who told a witness that his parents were dead and his house had burned down. The story was unfounded. The 24-year old was arrested on an outstanding felony warrant.

Nov. 14, 6:50 p.m.
Officers waiting for a West Capital Ave. juvenile girl suspected of a crime checked two adults at the residence for warrants. The 30-year old female at the scene had a warrant. She was booked, and then released with a notice to appear in court. The release occurred because the woman was weeks pregnant.

Nov. 23, 4:14 p.m.
Officers responded to a West Capitol Ave. business regarding a West Sacramento man attempting to pass a forged check. He had signed his father's name to obtain $200 from the check. An officer attempted to confirm the story with the suspect's father, but couldn't reach him by phone. The suspect was arrested.

Nov. 23, 12:32 p.m.
A woman on Chaparral Way reported her estranged husband violated a restraining order keeping him away from the woman, and threatened to kill her. The man was arrested, and had another outstanding warrant as well.

Nov. 23, 9:07 p.m.
Officers responded to a domestic dispute. The two subjects appeared to under the influence of drugs. Both admitted using methamphetamine. The two were parents of three children. The kids were released to their grandmother, and the 29-year old man and 30-year old woman were arrested.

Nov. 25, 6:25 p.m.
An officer located a car on F St. and checked its registration. The car had been reported stolen. A 32-year old woman sitting alone in the car was arrested.

Nov. 24, 2:40 p.m.
An officer contacted a 20-year old West Capitol Ave. woman, and asked consent to perform a pat search. The woman agreed – then ran away as they approached the vehicle. She was caught, and said, "I ran because I have something illegal on me." The woman was on probation, and had a hypodermic needle in her possession. She was booked.

Nov. 24, 1:26 p.m.
Police were called regarding an incident on Maple St. They saw the female victim and her child leaving the location. The 23-year old suspect – who had a restraining order keeping him away from the victim and child – was in the dwelling. He was arrested.

Nov. 24, 3:30 p.m.
At a West Capitol motel, an unknown suspect broke a vehicle window, punched the ignition and unsuccessfully attempted to start the engine.

Nov. 24, 10:35 a.m.
An officer responded to a male/female dispute at a drug store. The two began arguing after the male received a letter from his wife.

Nov. 24, 2 p.m.
Police recovered a van on Lighthouse Dr. which had been reported stolen the previous night.

Nov. 24, 5:25 p.m.
A Sacramento woman reported her 42-year old husband was missing and had left a suicide note. She said he had previously threatened to kill himself, and that she had just received a phone call from him saying that he was in West Sacramento's Reed Ave./Riverpoint area. The woman located his pickup truck and called police. Two officers searched for the man but couldn't find him. At 8:40 p.m., he was found near nearby railroad tracks, dead of an apparent drug overdose.

Nov. 24, 7-9 p.m.
At least three cars were separately reported stolen on Harbor Blvd., Maple St. and Fairway St.

SPORTS from p. 3

Bowl. The Raiders defeated the NFC champion New York Giants 28-10 while the Seahawks and Chargers lost on Sunday. If the Raiders win the next two games against Arizona (4-6) and Kansas City (3-7) the AFC West race will be over.

The Master, Rich Gannon, handled the Raiders offense masterfully, mixing the running game with passing. Gannon completed 13 out 20 passes in a windy rainstorm with no turnovers. The Raiders, who are 14 point favorites, next home game is Sunday (1:15 p.m.) against Arizona. The game will probably not be sold out, so expect a local blackout of the game.

My NFL picks improved this week with the help of my dog (Aztec), to post 13 wins, 18 losses and 2 ties. Aztec picked the Chiefs to win and Tampa Bay to upset the Rams on Monday night but he did lose with the Titans. This week it doesn't get any easier so Aztec is back to lend a helping paw!

Take the New Orleans Saints (-8) to take care of the Panthers (1-9) and the Jets (-3) after a bye week to handle the Patriots in New York. On Monday night take Brett Farve to lead the Packers (-3) over the Jags in Jacksonville.

See ya next week!!

CHILD CARE from page one

WUSD Superintendent, Stuart Greenfeld in helping cut the giant yellow ribbon surrounding the building. Guests enjoyed refreshment following the ribbon-cuttin location, as well as the labor to have the unit installed. The city then contracted with the YMCA to provide before and after school care at the new Southport Elementary childcare site. The Southport site is now the second YMCA childcare program in West Sacramento. The other program is located near Evergreen Elementary School.

Earlier this month, the children of the Southport YMCA Childcare Center held a ribbon cutting ceremony celebrating the successful collaboration between these organizations and recognized the opening of the facility. The Center has been well received and is full to capacity with 27 children.

With the childcare center's enthusiastic children leading the way, City Council members Christopher Cabaldon and Oscar Villegas joined

OBITUARIES

Lucile V. Chandley

Lucile Chandley passed away in West Sacramento on November 25, 2001. She was the beloved wife of over 62 years to John Chandley; the loving mother of Martha Chandley of West Sacramento, John Chandley of Somerville, MA., and Sherryl (husband, Gene) Chandley-Brown of Baldwinsville, NY.; the dear sister of Russell Varenkamp and Betty Lou (husband, Gilley) Hale; the devoted grandmother of Christopher and Sarah Chandley, Sue Kullerd, Gene Brown Jr., and Tammi Brown; and the loving great grandmother of Ben Kullerd.

Lucile was very active in scouting, serving as Den Mother, Scout Leader, and Executive. She was the past president of the Mid-week SAMS RV Club and member of the Wally Byam Air Stream Travel Club in Texas and New Mexico. She also helped create a local day care center for low income mothers in Las Cruces, NM., and was a tutor for the Laubach Literacy Program.

Lucile was a very active church leader at St. Paul's Methodist Church in Las Cruces. She also donated her time to the Red Cross Gray Ladies.

Friends are invited to attend Memorial Services on Friday, November 30, 2001 in the Trinity Presbyterian Church, of which Lucile was an active member, at 1500 Park Boulevard in West Sacramento. Friends may visit in the River Cities Funeral Chapel on Thursday from noon to 8 p.m. Private interment will be at the Masonic Lawn Cemetery.

Lucile involved herself with many charities in her lifetime, including Campus Crusade for Christ, the Wycliffe Bible Translators and the Heifer Project. Please support these, or the charity of your choice, in her name.

Walter E. Fabian

Walter Fabian died in Sacramento on November 23, 2001. He was a resident of West Sacramento for 36 years and is survived by his beloved daughter, Nadine Fabian; his loving brother, Jack Andis; and his dear cousin, Frank McCann.

Walter was a Mason with the West Sacramento Lodge #808 and he will be dearly missed by all. At his request, no services will be held. Cremation arrangements wer made by River Cities Funer Chapel of West Sacrament
